Successful Author Writes Betty Compton Story

The next time Martin Flavin writes a story for the movies, you can bet your last dollar that Hollywood will bet its last dollar that the story will be a knockout! Flavin is one of the few playwrights to have three successful plays showing simultaneously on Broadway. Several seasons ago he had "The Criminal Code," "Broken Dishes" and "Cross-Roads" running at once.

"Three Who Loved," which he wrote for Betty Compton, will be shown at Warner Bros. Sun, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The plot is said to be powerful, dealing with the dilemma of a woman who marries the man who "railroaded" her real love to prison. The drama of the situation is heightened when she is forced to stand helplessly by and watch the husband she despises win the affection of her son.

Conrad Nagel as the husband, and Robert Ames as the lover, round out a splendid cast. Both lend Miss Compton the support that lifts her to what is said to be the greatest portrayal of her career.

Sunday, Barbara Stanwyck in "Night Nurse" should be vividly remembered for her performance in "Illiet." "Night Nurse" is the screen adaptation of the sensational novel by Doris May. The stirring sequences of "Night Nurse" follow the life of a girl who comes to a great city hospital as a probationer, and becomes an accredited nurse. She meets temptation in many guises and also love—and is instrumental in saving the lives of two ill-fated children. "Night Nurse" is unusual and altogether absorbing in its transcription of an actual phase of the life of today.

Big Boss

Miss Sylvia Long, who smiles at you above, was acting governor of California at the state capital this week. This 25-year-old San Francisco Miss, as ranking member of Gov. James Rolph Jr.'s staff at Sacramento, acted in the governor's place during his absence.

Bigger 'n Better Names Are Given Newest Arrivals

By the United Press
SACRAMENTO.—California babies are starting out in life with bigger and better names. Such is the impression gathered from a summary of the birth certificates of the 21,056 children born in California during the first three months of 1931. According to Mrs. Marie B. Stringer, chief of the bureau of vital statistics, department of public health, the "fancy" names are popular, despite the modern trend towards "simplicity" in most things.

The most popular name for the brand new daughter appears to be "Beverley." According to Mrs. Stringer, the name is chosen in more than 10 per cent of the birth registrations coming from all parts of the state. While "Mary" was accepted as sufficient names for a two-cylinder automobiler. As a result the state birth records are crowded with "Mary-Anne," "Rosemary," "Josephine" and similar combinations.

Many Unnamed
It would appear, at the same time, that most of the parents' imagination is spent on the selection of names for girls. The boys are being forced to struggle along with the regular Johns, Edwards, Josephs and Georges.

"Unfortunately," Mrs. Stringer stated, "our records show thousands of nameless babies." Of the total for the first three months of the year, 1265 birth reports carry only the names of the parents. This condition may cause considerable confusion at future times when certified copies of birth certificates may be needed for important purposes. Parents should make certain that the names of their children appear on the official records.

"If the name does not appear upon the original certificate, the lack may be supplied at a later time by filing a supplemental report of birth, setting the given name of the child."

The department records show that most of these "nameless" children occurs more often in the rural districts.

Variety of Entertainment Is Booked for Week

A great variety of entertainment is offered in the list of attractions scheduled for showing at the Fox Plaza Theater for the coming week. For Friday and Saturday, the offering will be Kay Francis and Paul Lukas in "The Vice Squad." This is not a "gang picture," but a startling revelation of the inside workings of some of the detective forces of the larger cities. A Benny Rubin comedy entitled "Talking Turkey," is also on the program.

Sunday and Monday brings Robert Montgomery in his second starring role in "The Man in Possession." Montgomery, who has steadily forged to the fore since he entered picture, is said to reach the peak of his career with his performance in this production. A sound cartoon, act and News will also be on the program.

For Tuesday and Wednesday, the Fox Plaza will offer "Seed," the picture which recently closed a long run at the Fox Carthy Circle Theater and which has created much comment throughout the movie world. John Boles, Lois Wilson and Genevieve Tobin are the principal players thrown together in a drama of modern marriage.

Thursday only will offer Charles Ruggles in a delightful comedy romance entitled "Girl Crazy." Selected short subjects will also be offered in addition to the stage attraction of "Forrest Market Nite."

The Fox Plaza announces a return engagement of M-G-M's gigantic adventure film, "Trader Horn," for two days only, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 1 and 2.

Stellar Talents Are Used in Gripping Screen Drama

Clive Brock's suave forcefulness, Richard Arlen's appealing youth, Fay Wray's winsome loveliness, Jean Arthur's fish earnestness, and, last, but not at all least, Charles Rogers' newly discovered dramatic ability give to "The Lawyer's Secret," the Sunday and Monday Torrance Theater attraction, all the talent needed to translate this gripping drama into living reality.

"The Lawyer's Secret" is an extraordinary drama, really three vital stories with one sweeping motivating force. Brock, a lawyer in love with Fay Wray, unwittingly becomes the confidant of the girl's brother, Rogers. Rogers has assisted against his will at a murder, for which a young sailor, Arlen, is being tried for his life. Brock's lips are sealed because of professional ethics, and because of his love for the girl, Rogers, in fear of his life, refuses to confess. Arlen is convicted, in spite of the brave fight made for his life by "his girl," Jean Arthur.

The solution of this unsolved situation is tremendously exciting and surprisingly effective. Every role is acted with convincing finesse. Every shade of fateful meaning is projected by the accomplished cast.

Water Plant's Sale To City Considered

Affairs committees jointly were appointed to study the proposal. It is believed that members of the two committees will contact J. E. Albert, president of the holding company, at Columbus, Ohio, at an early date to commence negotiations leading up to the purchase of the local water plant.

The city went into Superior Court today through its special attorneys, O'Melveny, Tuttle and May, and City Attorney Beiney to present its arguments that many points listed in the complaint issued by a stockholder of the Torrance Water company to obtain an injunction preventing the city from selling the $100,000 water plant issue were non-important and not vital to the case. A decision is expected in a few days.
